

Technology Project Manager

Let's start with you...

Are you a tech-focused project manager who is inherently curious about the world around you, a quick thinker who is swift on their feet with outstanding communication skills? And are you motivated to learn and grow with our entrepreneurial and innovative team? Can you handle the challenge? If you answered yes to all of these then you'll love being a part of the Hotspex team.

About us:

Hotspex has been voted the most innovative market research firm in North America, and 8th globally in 2018. We develop new ways of gaining better, more meaningful insight to manage customer-brand relationships. This work and our global presence empower our blue-chip clients to develop and position ideas, brands, products, packaging, and communications that truly connect with consumers. Our world-class research solutions are distinguished by leading-edge technology, proprietary methodologies, and above all... employees who care about delivering a stellar client experience.

At Hotspex we know our people are what allows us to achieve all that we do and that's why it's important that everyone we bring onto our team lives our values with us.

The Hotspex Way (Our Values)

Give A Sh!t

We learn nonstop because we love what we do. Because we love what we do, we do it extremely well

Got Your Back

We take care of each other. We support one another. We build each other up. There is no culture without great people.

Yes Before No

We are solution focused. We are flexible, inquisitive and positive. Any innovation must start with yes.

Inclusive

We seek differing opinions. We ensure all voices are heard. We are strong when we are different.

We've Got Guts

We empower change. We step outside our comfort zone and bring our teammates with us. We have tough conversations. We ask to be challenged. We listen.
